In March, 1952 - when stereo photography was on everyone's mind - the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind sponsored a "Snow Ball", an annual fund-raising event. A feature of the intermission was an invitational exhibition of 3-D photography. Well-known personalities, including actor Harold Lloyd and the drugstore chain's Myrtle Walgreen, were invited to exhibit. Many members of the Jackson Park Camera Club's 3-D section also exhibited.

The "Snow Ball" became the foundation stone of the Chicago Stereo Camera Club. A group of stereographers under the guidance of Robert L. McIntyre, Camera Editor of the Chicago Tribune, organized the club with hosting the Chicago Lighthouse International Exhibition of Stereo Photography as one of its primary purposes. The club joined the Photographic Society of America with the result that shows had to be conformed to meet PSA's rigid exhibition standards. Workshop parties were held often and club members attended not only to participate but to support, serve and cheer those who were doing the work. At public presentations, ladies of the club wore gowns and the gentlemen dressed accordingly, a sign of the lofty position the club held in Chicago society.

Today, the Chicago Lighthouse International Exhibition of Stereo photography is proud to be listed as one of the longest continuing contributors to the Chicago Lighthouse

Since 1906, The Chicago Lighthouse has been creating opportunities to enable people who are blind, visually impaired or blind with additional disabilities to have equal access to education and employment.

With a broad base of corporate, foundation and individual support, hopes become reality every day at the Lighthouse: a child takes a first step toward independence with a white cane; a senior citizen lives independently with special visual aids.

New initiatives in the past year include a new assistive devices store online for more convenient shopping. Small business owners who are blind had 14 new store opportunities developed through the work of Lighthouse business developers. The clock making facility added an additional production line to keep up with orders, now making 1,200 clocks each day. The Low Vision Clinic has added occupational therapists and psycho-social support services to help people adjust to low vision. A new satellite clinic for low vision services has been opened at Northwestern Memorial Hospital, open two days a week. CRIS Radio studios have recorded a weekly program called "The Beacon" that can be heard on 950AM radio each Sunday, covering issues and events for people living with blindness.

The Chicago Lighthouse's Executive Director, Jim Kesteloot, retired in January 2009. Jim started at the Lighthouse 40 years ago as a job placement counselor, and rose to higher levels of responsibility including Director of Lighthouse Industries in the mid '70's. He was Assistant Executive Director when Milt Samuelson died in 1996 and succeeded him as Executive Director. Jim will remain on the board of directors as President throughout 2009.

The new Executive Director started in August 2008, Dr. Janet Szlyk. Dr. Szlyk was selected from an outstanding group of candidates from across the country to continue the strong leadership tradition of The Lighthouse. She came to the Lighthouse from the University of Illinois - Chicago Department of Ophthalmology & Visual Sciences where she was a full Professor and Director of Low Vision Research. Dr. Szlyk also had appointments in the Departments of Psychology and Bioengineering, and the Rehabilitation Research and Development Service of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs.

Entry fees and donations received at public showings of this salon have supplied some of the funds required for non-grant items essential to the operation of The Chicago Lighthouse. The Chicago Stereo Camera Club is proud to be the sponsor and contributor for the sixtyfirst consecutive year.
